Vision Statement

"Training up a child in the way he should go; even when he is old, he will not depart from it." - Proverbs 22:6

About Us

For over 35 years, Concordia Welfare and Education Foundation – Thailand (CWEFT) has empowered vulnerable children and families through education. Founded in 1988, CWEFT partners with communities to meet urgent needs and create lasting change—nurturing hope and building brighter futures across Thailand.

Executive Summary

In its 37th year, CWEFT reached over 2,331 children and families across Bangkok and Northern Thailand. Through education, health, and community programs, we helped break poverty cycles and build resilience—each number representing a transformed life, a family stabilized, a community strengthened. Together with our partners, we are creating lasting change.

Our Mission

Supporting disadvantaged children and families in Bangkok and Northern Thailand through education, health, and community development —empowering them to break poverty cycles, prevent trafficking, and build sustainable futures through lasting relationships.

CWEFT Program Portfolio

1. Concordia Early Childhood and Community Center (CDCC) – Bangkok

Our flagship center supports young children from disadvantaged backgrounds with holistic early education and care.

- 1.1 Concordia Day Care Program
- Target Group: Children aged 2–5
- Participants: forty-seven children

Objective: Full-day care and early education that nurtures physical, emotional, social, and cognitive growth. The program eases financial strain for low-income families, enables parents to work, and protects children from neglect—promoting equity and long-term community development.

·2025 Impact Summary:

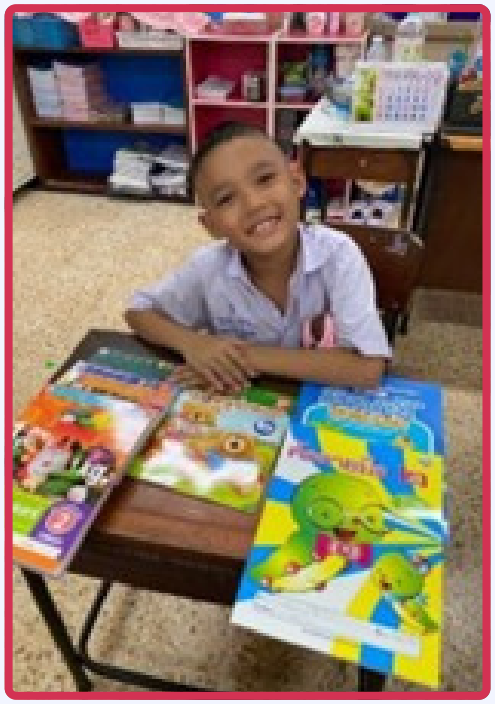

The CDCC nurtured forty-seven children, with sixteen successfully transitioning to school equipped with key life skills. Improvements in nutrition and peer interaction highlighted our comprehensive approach. Thanks to your support, we also upgraded restrooms and playgrounds, boosting comfort, safety, and play.

Nature's Story: Young, Brave, and Determined

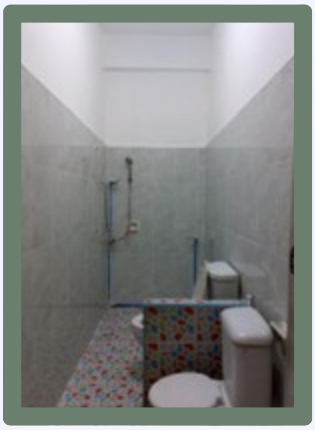

At just nine, Nature works hard in school and at home, helping his grandparents and collecting recyclables with his brother. At Concordia Children Center, he finds more than meals—he finds hope. His dream: to lift his family out of poverty and give back to the community supporting him.

1.2 Saturday Supplementary Teaching Program

- Target Group: Grades 1–9 and vocational students
- Participants: sixty-one children
- Objective: Saturday classes support struggling students in Math, English, life skills, and Christian education. Small groups and hands-on learning reinforce key concepts, while monthly enrichment (e.g., art therapy) and volunteer-led activities foster engagement.

2025 Impact Summary:

In 2025, the program boosted school retention and guided sixteen youths toward higher education or vocational paths. Art therapy and outreach events supported emotional growth for thirty-eight children, strengthening families and building brighter futures.

"My name is Aimy, and I am in seventh grade. Even though I face challenges like flooding and caring for my grandparents, I keep working hard in school because I believe education can change my life. I plan to join a vocational program after Grade 9 to gain job skills and support my family. My dream is to become a teacher so I can help children grow and learn. Thank you so much for your support—it means the world to me and helps me stay focused on my goals."

1.3 School Break Program

- Target Group: At-risk children during school holidays
- Participants: nineteen children
- Objective: Provides safe, structured daytime care during school breaks, offering learning, play, and emotional support while their parents' work.

2025 Impact:
Nineteen children received academic review, built stronger bonds with caregivers, and stayed safe from harmful influences—with special focus on girls' protection.

1.4 Scholarship Program

To ease financial strain, CWEFT awarded scholarships to fifty-eight students in Bangkok—covering uniforms, shoes, and supplies to keep education accessible. Families also received emotional and spiritual support through home visits and outreach.

1.5 Elderly Care Initiative

- Target Group: Elderly individuals in urban slums facing illness, disability, and isolation.
- Participants: forty-seven individuals

2025 Highlights: Monthly and special visits provided essential care, comfort, and connection to underserved elders—restoring dignity and supporting those without family or mobility.

- Altogether, CDCC programs supported 812 individual children and families alike—with a total investment of ฿2,434,187.87 ($74,898 USD).

2. Student Dormitory Project – Northern Thailand

CWEFT's Grace and Manaporn Centers in Chiang Rai provide safe housing, education, and holistic care for at-risk hill tribe children from remote border areas.

- 2025 Participants: thirty-six children (ages 5–15), including orphans and those from vulnerable families.
- Extended Impact: 176 family members received outreach, spiritual support, and trafficking prevention education.

2025 Impact Overview:
The dormitory program offered stability, protection, and opportunity—empowering children and strengthening families.
